

RonG's latest acquisitions

Mark Allen took the rather fine photo's on a Nikon D750 with VR 24-85mm lens settings mostly f8 1/500s at 85mm.

This is the FMS Fox 3m foamy, electric powered with 6s 4000 battery. Flies beautifully, but heck its a lump to hold in a moderate breeze.

But just to break up the boring text, just a few short days later this beauty appeared, courtesy of RonG's bottomless desire for change and challenge in equal quantities.

Ground shot, only, available just now - one of those precautionary things in case it didn't return. Overcautious as it turned out, a few trim clicks and it was locked in.

Taken by Ron himself wisely not whilst flying.
